

Enhanced Quality Of Care

With hospital staffing shortages and shorter patient stays, the demands on nurses and caregivers are increasing – as is the need to improve the quality of patient care. Shorter patient stays often result in already overworked staff having even less time to adequately care for patients. Patients can often feel lonely, isolated from the outside world and even uninformed about aspects of their care.

The LodgeNetRX™ Interactive Patient Television System improves the quality of patient care by offering healthcare facilities a means to enhance patient care and relieve many of the negative emotions patients often experience. LodgeNetRX empowers patients with access to entertainment, education and information on demand – keeping them entertained, informed and more comfortable. And with LodgeNetRX, there are fewer nurse calls, so caregivers can spend more time providing high-quality care and less time addressing non-clinical patient requests.

With LodgeNetRX, patients can use the television to order meals, schedule a case worker or spiritual counselor visit, or even request blankets, pillows or other items. Relief from these non-clinical nurse calls maximizes the productivity of the nursing staff and facilitates timely attention to patients' clinical issues. And when patients are entertained, they have less reason to leave their beds or their rooms, thus reducing the healthcare facility's risk associated with patient falls.
